

Jon Pecoraro

June 5, 1997

Written Comments

Four years ago when I was attending the High School, I never even dreamed of graduating or ever doing anything constructive with my life. Now I am two weeks away from graduation, and I even have some hopes and dreams for my future. Since my first day at Chautauqua (September 8, 1997) I have been through everything from being Board Rep. to seeing the destruction of the coke machine and trailer. I have become a completely different person these last three years, and the school has gone through numerous changes as well, but it is still hard for me to find points of criticism. For my closing comments I must say that I never could have made it through without Mike as my teacher. He is the greatest teacher ever. Thanks Chautauqua.